

HAMPTONS

8 Homes With Amazing Kitchens to Cook Your Holiday Meals

By Chelsea LoCascio | November 3, 2015 | Home & Real Estate

East Hampton

The beginning of November means holiday season is officially here. Make your planning and prepping that much more enjoyable this year in one of these gorgeous kitchens in luxe Hamptons homes on the market right now.

Everything about this estate says luxury, thanks to its prime location bordering Maidstone Golf Club, Hook Pond, and the ocean. The interior doesn't disappoint either, with a gorgeous eat-in kitchen. Guests will be impressed once they see the fireplace and spacious island, ideal for the season's large-format dinners and socializing. $12.75 million; Peter M. Turino, 235-9098, and Martha P. Gundersen, 903-6131 — Brown Harris Stevens

Pheasant Field County Estate, Southampton

Whether you're an amateur or professional chef, the sky's the limit when it comes to this dreamy, country-style kitchen. With plenty of counter space, two large sinks, and tons of natural light spilling into the room, you can guarantee guests will pop in and out for snacks, or as you prepare your holiday feast. $25.8 million; Harald Grant, 516-527-7712 — Sotheby's

30 E. Hollow Road

You'll be the envy of your family and friends when you show them this kitchen. With state-of-the-art stoves, warming drawers to keep your dishes hot for serving, and a large center island, cooking up a multiple-course meal won't be a problem at all. Afterward, point guests toward the butler's pantry where an ice machine and coffee station await for all their post-dinner treats. $6.3 million; Patricia Stanis, 553-1971 — Halstead Property

East Hampton

Don't underestimate this French-style kitchen—its quaint atmosphere is guaranteed to bring your family to the dinner table every night and be the center of attention during your holiday soirées. The eat-in space seats your guests next to the fireplace so they can stay warm throughout the evening. It's prime seating to watch (and steal a bite or two) as you prep their meals for the ultimate dinner-and-a-show experience. $6.495 million; William Stoecker, 516-818-4904 — Town & Country Real Estate

11 Jones Cove Road

Turkey taking up too much space in the fridge? Not a problem—this kitchen has two refrigerators. It also has two sinks and ample counter space so your family and friends will have no excuse not to help you cook this holiday season. $11.4 million; Cody Vichinsky, 500-9030, cody@bespokerealestate.com, and Zachary Vichinsky, 500-9030, zachary@bespokerealestate.com — Bespoke Real Estate

Rally up your sous chefs and test your skills in this Mark Stech-Novak-designed kitchen meant for the pros—there's a one-of-kind Molteni range and a separate prep kitchen. The decadent dining room doesn't hurt, either. $39 million; Paul Brennan, 537-4144, Michaela Keszler, 204-2743, and Oren Alexander, 212-350-8561 — Douglas Elliman

1285 Flying Point Road

Cooking for hours won't feel like a chore with a view like this. The serene scenery will surely ease any holiday stress. $29.95 million; Alfred Barreto, 255-1854, abarreto@saunders.com — Saunders

Sagg Pond

This open kitchen boasts plenty of storage space and room to get to work. For clumsier cooks, the easy access to the living room will make carrying food to the table less of a balancing act. $42.75 million; Susan Breitenbach, 875-6000 — Corcoran
